

Nouns are names

Nouns are the names of things around us. If things didn't have names we would get in a muddle.

Hey You,
can you bring me that thing
from the thing, please?

Fill in the blanks to give names to these things.

Tell your friend some of the things YOU have. Listen to some of the things your friend has.

Make sure all the children know the words for the different parts of the dog's body before they look at the diagram.
