

Retelling a story 1

Read this passage about Sally's Monday morning.

It was Monday morning and Sally woke up twenty minutes late for school. She quickly ate a piece of toast but spilt her orange juice on the kitchen floor. On the way to school she fell over and grazed her knee. Then she ran into class and knocked over the paint pots. It really hadn't been Sally's morning!

Now imagine that you are Sally. Write about your Monday morning and describe some of the things that go wrong for you.

Think of two other things that might have gone wrong for Sally on that Monday morning.
