

SOUND SCAPE

It was a dark, stormy night as we sat on a sheltered bench eating fish and chips. An owl hooted in the distance and footsteps approached. We dropped our fish and chips and ran towards the busy road for safety.

A sound scape tells a story using only noises and sound effects. Your job is to identify the noises that you would have heard sitting on that bench and tell the story using only sounds.

List your thoughts and ideas (for example, the owl was in the distance so a quiet hoot is needed) and how you will make the sounds.

Create a chart that shows the sound scape sequence.

You can experiment with available objects in the classroom. Also make sounds with your voices and bodies to get the message across.

Sounds

Rehearse, and then make an audio recording and present it to the class. Can the class identify how you made some of the noises?

Music: creating sound effects and sequences to tell a story.

This page may be photocopied by the purchasing institution only.