

Mini Quiz

A. Hugh Dalwiddle is giving a speech to the Convention of Arctic Explorers. Highlight all the relative clauses in green. You should find six.

My recent trip to the North Pole, where I saw polar bears, was highly dangerous. The ice pack was shifting all the time, which meant that we were constantly off course. I was in danger of falling down crevices in the ice, that are difficult to spot. Joshua, who is my navigation expert, helped to guide me. One night I was surrounded by bears, when hunger gripped them. I had to use my flare to scare them, which lit up the whole sky.

B. Arnold Smedley-Dalwiddle is flying on a mission. Can you add the correct relative pronoun to his shouted commands?

which who when where whose that _____ way am I going?

Good grief! _____ missile was close!

When I get there _____ do I speak to?

I have landed in someone's field.
_____ field is it?

I can't see the target. _____ one is it?

C. Expand Megan Smedley's story about how she met Hugh, through subordinate clauses of your own.

I was working in a field hospital, _____.

Hugh had terrible frostbite, _____.

He was so brave, _____.

He proposed to me at the top of Ben Nevis, _____.

_____.

Even though he loves exploring, _____.

_____.