School Blogs

Using the correct verb form is important. For example: I was going to the park NOT I were going to the park.

Kiyani wants to be a scientist when she grows up. She is writing a blog about climate change. Can you help her by filling in the blanks? Make sure you use the correct verb form.

There loads of old trains at the museum. We allowed to climb on the old steam train. It great. They had little models of horse drawn carriages in the Victorian times. Gavin and I allowed to dress up as conductors. There some actors going around. Some of them really funny. One of them dressed as a policeman who arresting one of the passengers. We had a workshop where we designed a railway for the future. This great fun! We allowed to put it anywhere we liked so I put mine in space! Jameela is writing about her visit to a cake factory. Can you help her to put in the correct verb? At the factory there loads of different machines. All the machines a different job to do. I met a lady called Greta who to make the cake mixture. She told me she to weigh out the ingredients really carefully. There was a huge mixing bowl. Greta let me a go at putting the weights into the computer. We also helped with the packaging machine. This to be filled with hundreds of paper cases. They to fill the compartment every two hours with cases. Aaron to make the icing for the icing machine. He told me he to cover 40,000 cakes every day! He to get up really	the country. The climate is definitely changing. I upset to see that streams and lakes are drying up. We shocked to witness huge areas of Britain looking totally brown. There no rain for months. The land totally parched. This is all due to climate change. Our Planet is warming up. My friends and I shocked to see pictures of how the Polar ice is melting dramatically. We must act now to make significant old steam train. It great. They had little models of horse drawn carriages in the Victorian times. Gavin and I allowed to dress up as conductors. There some actors going around. Some of them really funny. One of them dressed as a policeman who arresting one of the passengers. We had a workshop where we designed a railway for the future. This great fun! We allowed to put it anywhere we liked so I put mine in space! Jameela is writing about her visit to a cake factory. Can you help her to put in the correct verb? At the factory there loads of different machines. All the machines a different job to do. I met a lady called Greta who to make the cake mixture. She told me she to weigh out the ingredients really carefully. There was a huge mixing bowl. Greta let me a go at putting the weights into the computer. We also helped with the packaging machine. This to be filled with hundreds of paper cases. They to fill the compartment every two hours with cases. Aaron to make the icing for the icing machine. He told me he to cover 40,000 cakes every day! He to get up really	Tomo is writing about his trip to the local railway museum.
At the factory there loads of different machines. All the machines a different job to do. I met a lady called Greta who to make the cake mixture. She told me she to weigh out the ingredients really carefully. There was a huge mixing bowl. Greta let me a go at putting the weights into the computer. We also helped with the packaging machine. This to be filled with hundreds of paper cases. They to fill the compartment every two hours with cases. Aaron to make the icing for the icing machine. He told me he to cover 40,000 cakes every day! He to get up really	old steam train. It great. They had little models of horse drawn carriages in the Victorian times. Gavin and I allowed to dress up as conductors. There some actors going around. Some of them really funny. One of them dressed as a policeman who arresting one of the passengers. We had a workshop where we designed a railway for the future. This great fun! We allowed to different job to do. I met a lady called Greta who to make the cake mixture. She told me she to weigh out the ingredients really carefully. There was a huge mixing bowl. Greta let me a go at putting the weights into the computer. We also helped with the packaging machine. This to be filled with hundreds of paper cases. They to fill the compartment every two hours with cases. Aaron to make the icing for the icing machine. He told me he to cover 40,000 cakes every day! He to get up really different job to do. I met a lady called Greta who to make the cake mixture. She told me she to weigh out the ingredients really carefully. There was a huge mixing bowl. Greta let me a go at putting the weights into the computer. We also helped with the packaging machine. This to be filled with hundreds of paper cases. They to fill the compartment every two hours with cases. Aaron to make the icing for the icing machine. He told me he to cover 40,000 cakes every day! He to get up really

Challenge

Can you write a blog of your own about something you have done recently at school – perhaps a visit or trip or workshop you have just been on? Use the verb forms: was, were, has and have.